

The Garden Legacy of the Hosokawa Clan

Higo-Hosokawa Garden

1-1 Mejirodai, Bunkyo-ku ☎03-3941-2010 🍁

At the final years of the Edo period, this place has been used as a suburban residence of Hosokawa Etchu, the feudal lord of Higo Kumamoto 540,000 koku. Taking advantage of the height difference of the natural plateau, the circuit style garden around the pond have sloping forests and narrow streams with spring water so that you can see the varied landscape. In autumn the Japanese maple like "Yamamomiji" turns red as if covering the pond, and the landscape reflects like a mirror on the surface of the water, from the end of November you can also see the snow hanging pine. Also, the building "Shoseikaku" which maintains the facade of the Taisho period, can be used as a meeting room, being able to choose between western style rooms and Japanese style rooms. You can see the garden from the tea room "Tsubaki-Camelia" or the circuit-style observation floor "Sazanka" on the second floor.

Hama Palace where sea breeze blows as a reminder of the Edo era

Hama-rikyu Gardens

1-1 Hama-rikyu Teien, Chuo-ku ☎03-3541-0200

Special Place of Scenic Beauty and Special Historic Site "Former Hama-rikyu Teien Gardens"

This is the family garden of Tokugawa Shogun which functioned as an outer fort for Edo castle that retains a tidal pond of seawater drawn from the bay called Shiokiri-no-ike and 2 duck hunting grounds. In 1654, the fourth shogun Ietsuna's younger brother Matsudaira Tsunashige reclaimed land from the sea and built his detached residence called Kofu Hama-yashiki on hawking sites of the shogun's family. With Tsunashige's son Tsunatoyo (later Ienobu) became the sixth shogun, the mansion became the property of the shogun's family. The name was then changed to Hama palace. After the Meiji Restoration, the garden became a Detached Palace of the Imperial Family, changing its name to Hama-rikyu. The Imperial Family donated the garden to the City of Tokyo in November 1945, and after restoration work, it opened to public in April, 1946 as Hama-rikyu Gardens. Later, the garden designated as a Special Place of Scenic Beauty and Special Historic Site of the country.

Kyu-Shiba-rikyu Gardens

1-4-1 Kaigan, Minato-ku ☎03-3434-4029

Place of Scenic Beauty "Garden of Former Shiba-rikyu"

Kyu-Shiba-rikyu is regarded by many as being one of the most beautiful gardens in Tokyo, and it's one of only two surviving Edo era feudal lord's gardens along with Koishikawa Korakuen Gardens. It is a typical Japanese garden with a pond surrounded by a path, featuring superb ground and stone work. Kyu-Shiba-rikyu is filled with man-made hills which give excellent views of the environs, the highest hill Oyama however provides a full, panoramic view. The garden was bestowed to the Tokyo City in 1924 in commemoration of the wedding of Emperor Showa in January of the following year, 1924. After restoration and upgrading work, it was opened to the public as "Kyu-Shiba-rikyu-Onshi-Gardens".

Koishikawa Korakuen Gardens

1-6-6 Koraku, Bunkyo-ku 🍁
☎03-3811-3015

Special Historic Site and Special Place of Scenic Beauty "Koishikawa Korakuen Gardens"

Construction of the garden was started by the feudal lord Tokugawa Yorifusa back in 1629, and completed in the hands of his son, the second domain lord, Tokugawa Mitsukuni with the help of a Confucian scholar from China. This strong Chinese influence can be seen throughout the garden, and it gives Korakuen its own unique ambience. Typical sights in China were reflected as seen by Engetsu-kyo and Seiko-no-tsutsumi. Also, Korakuen is a garden of many hills and levels with winding paths that lead to extraordinary views. The garden is centered on a large pond, but has many stone pathways which lead off to groves, fields or scenic spots which visitors can enjoy in almost perfect calm.

Gardens where wind of bygone days blows always

Kyu-Iwasaki-tei Gardens

1-3-45 Ikenohata, Taito-ku ☎03-3823-8340 🍁

Important Cultural Property "The former Residence of the Iwasaki Family"

Kyu-Iwasaki-tei Gardens was built in 1896 as the main residence of Iwasaki Hisaya, the 3rd president of Mitsubishi and the eldest son of Iwasaki Yataro, the founder of the group. In those days, as many as 20 buildings were arranged in the site. But, at present, it has been reduced to 1 /3 of its original size, with only 3 buildings, namely the western-style residence, billiard room and Japanese residence hall. The western-style residence and billiard room were designed by Josiah Condor who also designed Kyu-Furukawa Gardens. On the other hand, the Japanese building, connected to the western-style building, is reported that its construction was done by Okawa Kijuro who had engaged in building of many residences for magnates of political and business circles as the master carpenter.

Time honored Edo flower garden of 200 years history.

Mukojima-Hyakkaen Gardens

3-18-3 Higashi-Mukojima, Sumida-ku ☎03-3611-8705 🍁

Place of Scenic Beauty and historical sites "Mukojima-Hyakkaen Gardens"

During the eras of Bunka and Bunsei (1804 - 1830) when cultural life flourished among common town people in Edo (present Tokyo), a wealthy antique dealer named Sahara Kikuu took an initiative to open a flower garden for viewing pleasure of flower-bearing vegetation in particular, assisted by his friends with literary and artistic tastes and talents. One theory has it that the name "Hyakkaen" was derived from the meaning "Garden where a hundred of flowers bloom four seasons of the year". At the inception of the garden, it was mostly 360 plum trees, but to follow, well known plants quoted in Chinese and Japanese classics like "Shikyo" (the China's oldest collection of poems) and "Manyo-shu" (the existing oldest collection of Waka poems in Japan) were collected until the garden provided flowers throughout the seasons. This is the only surviving flower garden of the Edo period to date.

Kiyosumi Gardens

3-3-9 Kiyosumi, Koto-ku ☎03-3641-5892 🍁

Place of Scenic Beauty designated by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government "Kiyosumi Gardens"

According to an estimate, this place is regarded as the former site of a mansion of the legendary wealthy merchant, Kinokuniya Bunzaemon in Edo-period. During 1716 and 1735, it became the secondary residence of the domain lord of Seki-yado in Shimousa-no-kuni (largely present Chiba Prefecture), Kuze Yamatonokami. In 1878, Mitsubishi founder Iwasaki Yataro bought the dilapidated residence, and he planned a garden that would be a site for his employee's recreation and to invite dignitaries. While it was opened as "Fukagawa Shinbokuen" in 1880, the garden construction went on until it was completed as the most representative "kaiyu-style (circuit style) garden" in Meiji-period, that include a large pond drawing water from Sumida river and manmade hills in particular valuable stones collected from all over the country. The garden suffered extensive damage during the Great Kanto earthquake and Second World War, but still remains one of the finest examples of a Meiji era strolling garden.

Native grasses of Musashino and the garden of spring water

Tonogayato Gardens

2-16 Minamicho, Kokubunji-shi ☎042-324-7991 🍁

Place of Scenic Beauty "Tonogayato Garden; Zuigien Villa"

This modern villa garden was built taking advantage of the terrace cliff on the southern edge of the Musashino plateau. An open space with a bright lawn at the top of the cliff contrasts sharply with the forested pond and bamboo woods at the bottom. The gardens were constructed from 1913 to 1915 as a villa for Eguchi Sadae who would become vice president of the South Manchuria Railway Company. Then, in 1929, Iwasaki Hikoata, president of Mitsubishi Goshi Kaisya purchased this villa from the Eguchi family. As a result of the neighborhood protest movement to protect this garden against the development plan of the surrounding areas in the 1965s, this place was purchased by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government in 1974, and after upgrading and preparing works, it was opened as a Places of Scenic Beauty of the country as Tonogayato Gardens.

Unique garden of the Taisho-period with a harmonized mixture of Japanese and western tastes

Kyu-Furukawa Gardens

1-27-39 Nishigahara, Kita-ku ☎03-3910-0394 🍁

Place of Scenic Beauty "Former Gardens of the Furukawa Family"

Taking advantage of the terrain of the Musashino Plateau, a Western-style house is on a small hill on the north side, a Western-style garden is on the slope, and a Japanese garden at the lowland. The harmony of "Japanese" and "Western" style is the charm of the garden. It was built by Toranosuke Furukawa, the third generation of the Furukawa family. The Western-style House and garden were designed by the British architect Josiah Conder who worked from the Meiji to the Taisho era, on projects such as the Rokumeikan and the Former Iwasaki western style mansion and garden (Kyu-Iwasaki-tei Gardens). The Japanese garden was developed by famous Kyoto gardener, Jihei Ogawa. This is a garden that maintain their original early Taisho forms.

Spend time in nature in inner-city Tokyo at the Imperial Family's gardens

The East Gardens of the Imperial Palace

1 Chiyoda, Chiyoda-ku ☎03-3213-1111

National-designated Special Historic Site "Remains of Edo Castle"

The East Gardens of the Imperial Palace are the gardens for the Imperial Family located in the Imperial Palace and are open to the public.

Their Majesties The Emperor and Empress, who live inside the Imperial Palace, frequently visit the Gardens.

Easily recognisable plant labels are attached to the trees and plants for the visitors. The gardens contain, such as, orchards, where old varieties of fruit trees cultivated for food in pre-modern Japan have been planted, and a grove with deciduous broadleaf trees attracting insects and wild birds through which a small stream runs.

The Gardens' many features are the reflection of Their Majesties' wish that the visitors can appreciate and enjoy the site which shows different faces as the seasons change.

Remains of the Shoin Garden from the Early Showa period

Yamamoto-tei

7-19-32 Shibamata, Katsushika-ku ☎03-3657-8577

Katsushika ward registered Tangible cultural property "Yamamoto-Tei Garden",
Tokyo Metropolitan Government-Selected Historic Place "Katsushika-ku Yamamoto-Tei"

Yamamoto-tei with a breadth of 270 square meters, is a typical Shoin garden that features a path around a pond and drops a waterfall from the lush shrubbery and artificial hill. The garden preserves the style of the beginning of the Showa period, which is an extraordinary case these days. The waterfall has been placed in the farthest place inside the pond, giving the pond an impression of being larger and producing a sympathetic resonance. Also, as a technique to show the surface of the pond wider, coves have been placed on all sides.

A Short Stroll into the traditional Japanese culture
Keio Mogusaen

Keio Mogusaen

560 Mogusa, Hino-shi ☎042-591-3478 🍁

Hino City-designated Historic Site and Place of Scenic Beauty "Mogusaen (site of Shorenji-temple)"

In the Kyoho Era (from 1716), the widow of Okubo Lord Odawara, the nun Joshouin Jigaku Genchouni, had the Shorenji temple rebuilt in mourning for Tokugawa Ieyasu's eldest son, Nobuyasu. The property grew through the ages into what is now Keio Mogusaen. In the autumn, you can see beautiful maple leaves; during plum season, 500 trees of 50 varieties race to show their blossoms and the splendor of the park reaches its climax.
